JOHN MARRIOTT BLASHFIELD,
STAMFORD, LINCOLNSHIRE.

The Consoles, Trusses, &c., are made with and without tiling or bonding pieces to fix into walls. Those made without bonding pieces are hollow and can be easily fixed to a projecting brick or corbel.

Trusses, &c., are also made with screw holes to affix them to woodwork.

At a very trifling additional cost, Trusses, &c., can be enamelled, or glazed, and made in fancy colours, also gilt.

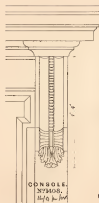

The block or general form of the Console or Truss may be altered to suit new designs, at a cheap rate, by altering the enrichment on the face and sides. Bacchic or other masks, festoons of fruit and flowers, and foliated ornament, can be easily added and varied to the plain block of the Truss or Console.

J. M. BLASHFIELD has a very much larger collection of Models of Consoles, Trusses, and Brackets, than are shown in this book, sketches of which may be had on application.
